The Importance of Perceiving the Inner Corruption in a Corporate Environment

Andréia Bazzo

Rosangela Quaglio

Summary:

A fundamental aspect of the human being is his behavior, for he can choose either to draw closer to goodness or reject it entirely. The person who achieves greater action conducts any type of work with greater facility, for action brings him closer to his essence. Corruption in corporations occurs not only when the company seeks profit above all other goals, but also when the personal, day-to-day corruption goes unscientized.

The principal aspect of the human being is his behavior, for he can choose either to draw closer to goodness or to reject it entirely.

The individual of greater action is the one who accomplishes any type of work with greater facility, for he is closer to his essence.

Nowadays it`s easy to see corruption?

On others...

It is stamped everywhere: tv, newspaper, school homework, even at pub conversations.

Our politicians, for example, regardless of the flag color, are involved in several cases of corruption.

We can also see it in corporate environments, at huge transactions, with a lot of money and powerful people. They do whatever is needed to achieve their goals.

We read the book A Libertação pelo Conhecimento by Norberto Keppe and we are astonished about the concept of corruption. It is disturbing to perceive the corruption within me.

We started to observe corruption from a different point of view and now we want to share with you what we have discovered, especially at work environment.

It shows how their awareness is the most important of all knowledge, and can lead humanity to total freedom and its consequent development.

Keppe purpose a scientific methodology for people and individuals to be free of the emotions and rationalisms in which they live until today, causing all forms of difficulty (wars, poverty, diseases), to finally enter the age of reason.

Can we see our own corruption?

We don't perceive our own corruption, however we are able to quote dozens of examples in others.

We act according to immediate advantages, for example, a sales girl I used to work with, in order to close a contract, cheated on some rules and argued that it's just one time, no one will know and no one will be bothered.

After many of these daily little lies we start to think: what will we gain immediately?

We fix our minds within partial or false ideals of existence / reality.

With a segmented mind we make unconscious choices, without noticing, and spoil our day.

And how do we corrupt the work environment?

Meet Bruce:

Work as a manager and doesn't know how to lead people

He has difficulties to use his power, he is perfectionist and doesn't prepare an employee to become a leader.

Bruce centralizes their decisions and doesn't allow the subordinate to grow.

Can you see the inner corruption in this case?

Nevertheless it's important to perceive our inner corruption at work environment.

It's important to see our internal corruption that is not about lows or earn money. It's about our day to day work.

What Bruce thinks and says:

- No one will do the task so perfect like me.- Theomania
- My subordinate aren't capable enough - Theomania
- I can do it better myself – Theomania
- The subordinate will do the work too well, better than me - Envy

In a first moment we can think that is a situation that training the manager will be the solution.

He is corrupting the function of Leadership in the corporate. Is it honesty? No, because the Corporate is paying him to Lead and develop others.

He's acting this way to get some advantages. What kind of advantages can we see?

We know what's correct but why do we corrupt, spoil what is correct?

And the worst, we create a lot of excuses that justify our acts of corruption.

How do we corrupt our daily work?

By denying the knowledge.

There is a desire to corrupt nature, to change the order of things, to break with reality, to destroy good and virtue and to vitiate the ones who are moral.

A company can offer you a pack of benefits, cell phone, credit card, car, notebook, status, insurance, money and much more .

Knowledge exists by itself. We do not want to see because it is against our desires to do whatever we want without considering the reality.

Not knowing about what is good makes us accept evil without having the slightest idea of how it harms.

Valdirene works in a corporate for 20 years on the same area.

She knows everything about all tasks. She became and specialist in her area.

Valdirene receives a lot of positives feedback about her performance. She perfectionist and not accept errors.

If someone asks her something about the task she answers aggressively

What is the inner corruption?

- Impatient - Theomania
- Doesn't like to teach others – Envy
- She doesn't want share knowledge - Theomania

She is corrupting her function of mentor.

Valdirene is a selfish person and doesn't want to teach others

Causes bad impact due to her respond way

She's a selfish person about her task therefore she's corrupting the work environment

Her way is the right way

It's not about earn money it's about teambuilding

She doesn't like to teach others because others will learn and perhaps do the task better

Impatient - Doesn't have time to spend with others

She's surrounded of bad feelings like fear, anger.

Is it honesty?

No, because the Corporate is paying her to share knowledge with others.

Thought and conduct

If our thinking is contaminated our actions will also be bad (unconscious) intentions corrupt knowledge on its roots and destroy thought its origin.

Knowledge is spontaneous, but our inverted will destroys it.

We are driven almost exclusively by emotions and not by reason as we believe that is why we reject knowledge.

We leave our will free, influenced by the emotions, by bad intentions, and with this we decompose, deteriorate and corrupt our own mind and consequently our actions.

We create a lot of fantasies that comes from our narcissism and egocentrism.

Bad (unconscious) intentions corrupt knowledge on its roots and destroy thought in its origin.

The only way to stop this situation
... is to know it

Until this moment, we have justified our misconduct by claiming that we didn't know what we were doing.

Do not have any more excuses!

You were discovered, I was discovered.

And may everyone see each other so that we can finally reach a world of peace and well-being.

To get in touch with knowledge we have to give up this paraphernalia of lies that corrodes our thought.

So you are one of those who have not yet reached a high degree of corruption and you can still talk about it, discuss it, and bring up the truth.

Let's go search the truth, the total knowledge, not the fragmented by the individual emotions and desires.
